DEXTER ELM GONE

The dutch elm disease, which has finished most of the elms in town that the hurricanes left, has erased a landmark in Mattapoissett. The Dexter Elm dating from 1837 has fallen to the power saw after being killed by the blight. Last winter some of the heavy limbs of the tree had ripped off and crashed to the highway.

In the pen & ink drawing above by D. Jason, the tree is pictured at the time the Dexter Mill was standing. This is directly across from where Louie Galavotti's barber shop is now located.

There aren't many in town who remember the old mill very well but the tree is familiar to all. It's gone but another tree will take its place.

The lecturer presented his program, explaining the Advent Season and its meaning. A candle lighting ceremony was held with the lecturer, Joseph Alves, lighting the candle of Faith, Joseph Carson lighting the candle of Love and Mark Harris lighting the candle of Hope. The fourth candle will be lit at the Christmas meeting and program, December 23. The lecturer explained a candle at this time symbolizes the influence of Jesus in our lives, a Christmas devotion.

Harlene Fearing received the lecturer's prize. A most enjoyable boys' fashion show was presented, showing what the well dressed girl should wear. Dale Fearing was the commentator. Five boys made several appearances in a chic and entertaining manner, as well as the well dressed commentator.

Community singing was led by Jane Harris with Mr. Walter Caswell at the piano.

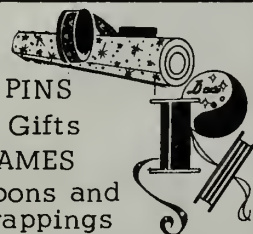

A social time was enjoyed with John Alves and Joseph Carson as hosts, serving Christmas cookies and punch.

RENT A PAINTING

Have you ever needed a change? A trip to Florida, a champagne party or a new Rolls Royce might solve your problems, but if these do not fit into your budget, have you ever thought about taking part in an old Japanese custom, that is, changing pictures every few months? The art rental service at the Marion Art Center makes it possible for you to rent a work of art for a very small fee. Now on display at the center are fifty of the ample supply of paintings for rent. You may see all of the oil paintings, prints and watercolors now during gallery hours: Tuesdays thru Saturdays 1:00 to

The wide range of subjects -- from quiet seascapes to colorful, wild abstracts -- plus the variety in styles is due to the many artists from the Greater Boston area as well as local artists who have contributed their works for this service. The Cambridge Art Association and the DeCordova Museum have also loaned some of their collection for rental. All the paintings are for sale and the rental fee may serve as partial payment if you choose to purchase the painting. However, the idea of changing paintings every so often seems rather intriguing.

Leasing a work of art is an exciting way to brighten your home. Also it is a wonderful gift for a convalescent or shut-in or perhaps for Christmas. The Marion Art Center invites you to take advantage of this creative opportunity.

SYMBOLS OF CHRISTMAS

Old St. Nick, beloved by children throughout the world, is a legacy of the Dutch settlers of New York who brought with them the jovial Santa Claus. This St. Nicholas is none other than San Nicolas - the patron saint of children. Through the years this jolly hero has been pictured in many forms until finally he is universally recognized in his white beard and bright red suit trimmed with fur.

In England and America, children hang their stockings on the fireplace mantel because St.

Nick reportedly travels from his North Pole headquarters in a sleigh drawn by reindeer and delivers the gifts via the chimney from the pack he carries on his back. The poem, "The Night Before Christmas", delightfully describes this midnight visit.

French children place wooden shoes on the hearth to receive their presents from "Bon-homme Noel" (Father Christmas), and in Norway the children have a hunt for their presents which are tucked away in places throughout the house. In Italy, gifts are drawn from the "Urn of Fate" which is a custom inherited from the Romans. The drawing creates great excitement.

Next to Santa Claus himself, the Christmas tree with its bright lights, silver globes, figures and chains is a favorite tradition of the season. The Christmas tree has been traced back as far as ancient Rome. In the 16th century it appeared along the Rhine and the cus-

HOMEMAKING CLASSES HEAR SPEAKERS

Mrs. Katherine Stern's Homemaking classes at the Old Rochester Regional High School have had the following speakers during the month of November. On November 7, Father Mullaney of the Wareham Parish addressed the class on "What the Church Requires of the Participants".
Father Mullaney reviewed the questionnaire and the pre-marriage instructions which the Roman Catholic church uses. He noted that because marriage is a sacrament in his church, marriage is for the lifetime of the couple.

On November 14, the Reverend George Robinson, of the Congregational Church in Marion, spoke on the arrangements to be made by the couple and the church before the wedding. He

The delegates were sponsored by electric companies from many states of the Union. David Hannon, a senior at the Old Rochester Regional High School, was sponsored by the New Bedford Gas and Edison Light Company. The New Bedford Gas and Edison Light Company also sponsored students from Stang High School, New Bedford High School, Silver Lake Regional High School and Apponequet Regional High School.

The First General Session of the Conference began at 8:30 A.M. on October 27, and lasted until noon. All general sessions were held in the grand ballroom of the hotel. The theme of the Conference was, "The New Instruments of Science". This was also the title of the keynote address given by Dr. R. Christian Anderson, Assistant Director at the Brookhaven National Laboratory. The following lectures were more specific and dealt with many fields in science. Dr. A. R. Hibbs, staff scientist at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory California Institute of Technology spoke on "Exploring the Solar System", and a talk by Dr. Heeschen, Director of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Charlottesville, Virginia, who spoke on "Radio Telescopes". The Second General Session began at 2:00 P.M. October 27, and consisted of two lectures. There were 13 discussion groups on many different phases of science from which students had a choice.

"WOULD YOU LEAVE YOUR NAME AND NUMBER - PLEASE"

The Dear Abby advice column is widely read and greatly patronized. Usually Abby's answers are concise and amusing. Recently a troubled housewife acknowledged a problem which she felt she shared with many and that dialed home to us at New England Telephone Company. We feel that Abby's answer deserves seconding.

It seems that this woman's husband is often out of town on business trips and her question was how to answer the long distance operator's inquiries "Is Mr. So & So at home and when and where can he be reached?" on behalf of the calling party.

"When someone calls for your husband and he is out of the city, you need only ask without revealing that he is out of town, 'Who is calling Mr. So & So, please?' If you do not recognize the name, Abby suggests, "ask the party to leave his name and operator's number and say that Mr. So & So will return the call."

Sound advice! We of the New England Telephone Company "second it".

The measles immunization program is part of the statewide campaign to eradicate the diseases, which can cause serious medical complications such as encephalitis, pneumonia, ear infections and mental retardation. The Schwarz strain vaccine is being used and according to health officials, the one dose is believed sufficient to guarantee life time protection.

There are some restrictions which have been placed on the vaccine and are as follows:

Children with acute respiratory infections or a temperature on the day of the clinic; or those who have an allergy to eggs, egg products, feathers, or chicken proteins; or those who are receiving treatment with cortisone, irradiation, or alkylizing agents or metabolites; or those who have received a vaccination for small pox or polio within the past month; or have been exposed to gamma-globulin, plasma, or whole blood within 6 weeks prior to the clinic date should not receive the vaccine.

This clinic is being held under the direction of the local Board of Health with Dr. Albert York in charge.

TWO MOVIES WORTH SEEING

Two movies are now playing in New Bedford that are well worth seeing if you haven't already been.

One is "Dr. Zhivago", the powerful and moving story of the Russian revolution when the Communists took over the country. The movie follows pretty closely the best selling novel by Boris Pasternak.

The scenery is magnificent and the music haunting. You're guaranteed to come out humming "Lara's Theme".

The second movie is "The Sound of Music", the story of the famous Trapp family who escaped from their homeland, Austria, when the Nazis took over their country. The scenery in this one too is magnificent with the panoramic scenes of the Austrian countryside. The Rodgers and Hammerstein score is de-munity's sincere interest in the welfare of the young men at Rodman. More than four thousand persons have visited the Center in the last six months, and hundreds have given their time and their talent to help us make Rodman a happy and productive institution.

During these months we have been working very hard at Rodman to regain the community's trust. We have done this by devoting careful attention to details in matters of discipline and organization, by developing the kind of courtesy and respect that a good neighbor has the right to expect, and by being constantly on the alert for opportunities to perform public service in the New Bedford community.

Our goal in the coming months will be to make even more friends for our young men, to educate them to the ideals of work and discipline and to send them on to good jobs and good family lives.

The City Council vote greatly heartens us in this undertaking.
